MARCH 24, 2021
6:30 P.M. EST
Jack and Jill of America, Inc.

• Organization of mothers with children ages 2-19
• Dedicated to raising the next generation of African American leaders
• To accomplish this mission, we focus on:
  • Leadership development
  • Cultural exposure
  • Community service
  • Legislative advocacy
  • Philanthropic giving
INROADS, Inc.

For 50 years, INROADS – a nonprofit organization born out of the Civil Rights movement – has prepared underrepresented youth for corporate careers through leadership development training and paid internships.

154,000 diverse high school and college students with pre-employment skills

30,000 alumni into full-time professional positions

1,000 corporate and public sector partners
J&J and INROADS together

• This Partnership is being formed to address the lack of diverse talent pursuing STEAM and business majors recruited across the country.
• Our focus is on career readiness
• Jack and Jill and INROADS will work together to bring awareness, recruitment and participation for INROADS signature programs:
  • College Links - high school students
  • Leadership Development Academy college students, includes paid internship opportunities
INROADS College Links

Works at the high school level to prepare and strengthen underserved talent for college and career success, targeting those interested in STEAM and business careers.

College Links gives students needed access to career immersion activities, goal planning, and mentoring.

- College and Career Transition Workshops
- Leadership and Development Training
- Parent Sessions
- National College Links Academy
- Transition to Leadership Development Academy

INROADS Leadership Development Academy (LDA)

Works at the college level to prepare talented, underserved students across the country for corporate readiness with business soft skills, leadership development activities, academic and career support, and a salaried internship.

The LDA has two principal levels of service:

- Candidate Preparation Services
- Salaried Corporate Internships
- Leadership Development Institute
